Knight Legate Garlan de Brall

 50pt

I was on my knees in the mud, crying as much for the life I almost lost as for joy of being alive. In front of me lay the corpse of the Aurlok warrior who had killed my two companions, his skull bashed in by the one I now call my master. As impressive in his Obsius armor as the creature he had just slain, he casually plucked out his symbiotic arm from the shattered pieces of his victim's skull. He spoke only these words: «I am the Knight Legate Garlan de Brall.» I have never been afraid since.

Countryside Priest (1)

 32pt

Religious authority :
Once every turn, at any time during his activation phase, the priest can target any miniature that is neither a hero or an alchemist within Mind range. This miniature can immediately perform one action that would cost 1 AP.

- Have you ever noticed how our countryside priests have this peculiar smell following them? Either a fresh humus smell, the reassuring smell of oak or the sweetness of wet grass. Do you think this comes from the Benediction of the Beathacrann?
- Yeah, probably ... It's what they call being in good odor with the Beathacrann....»

Avalonian recruits (2)

 10pt

No, I didn't join the Avalonian army to serve our glorious kingdom or to make my old mother proud... Actually, I was in a nice tavern to party my birthday of the branch and friendly stranger offered me a pint of strongnectar, and another and another... The next morning I learned he was a recruiter and that, completely wasted, I had signed my engagement.
- So, you too? Did they take the price of those pints out of your first wages too?

Avalonian Crossbowmen (I)

- Put that blade away kid, you gonna hurt yerself ! You want a real man's weapon? Use those two straws you call arms and bring this nice fat crossbow made of good, solid wood. With this piece, you gonna pour a rain of death on your enemies ... What? Of course it's heavy kid! Weight is power. With one of these you can kill two peasants with one bolt, I swear. Ya don't believe me? See those two, running towards us with their knives? Open those girly eyes of yers, I'm gonna show you how it's done ...

Countryside Priest

Prayer to the Stones (0)
3 Earth / 2in / Auto

The Formula targets the priest himself, but the range indicates an area around the priest. The priest and all friendly Avalonian miniatures within this area become Tough(1). The value of Tough is increased by one if the miniature was already tough. This effect disappears as soon as the priest is wounded.

Enhancements :
1 for one additional inch range

Litany of Brambles (2)
3 Earth / 8" / Auto
The Formula targets a friendly Avalonian within range. Each time this miniature is wounded, the attacking miniature receives 1 point of damage back. The Formula stays active until the end of the turn where the target is wounded.

Enhancements :
1 for an additional target within range
2 for 1 additional damage inflicted back
