Fearsome (14)
Entangle

Avalonian Retiarus (2)

25pt

Entangle :
When a combat is initiated by or against a miniature with this competency, the player can roll a free Combat Roll without any adverse reaction. If this roll is successful the DAM are not inflicted but the opponent miniature is entangle. As long as it remains in combat with the entangling miniature, the entangle one has a penalty dice for all close combat and ranged attack rolls. Its defense is also lowered by 2. If the miniature wishes to disengage from close combat, it must spend 1 AP additional before trying to disengage.

Be wary of the cruel Avalonian Retiarus, for they are unlike any soldier. A soldier goes to war to fulfil his duty; a Retiarus goes to war for the pleasure of killing! They like nothing more than entangling their enemy in the vicious coils of their bramble arms and looking into his eyes as they cut off their victim's head with a joyous bestiality. And they like to keep those heads as trophies from their battles!

*« I'll tell ya, the best part is when he finally realizes there is nothing he can do... He can squirm like a landed fish, but it only tightens the grip of my Symbiote!
Of course I could kill him quickly, but why waste these precious moments of pleasure - seeing him struggle with no hope of escape? The best part is when he thinks I might be hesitating... There's a tiny spark of hope in his eyes and that's my favorite moment for the killing blow.
I just love serving the Beathacrann ! »*
